

GW SKENE'S DIGITAL CITIZENSHIP EXPECTATIONS

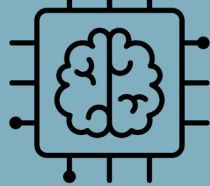

I can show independence by knowing my login information and keeping it private.

I can show generosity by using my time on tech wisely and handing in my assignments on time.

I understand that technology at school is a tool to help me learn. I can show independence by using technology to focus on learning and completing my tasks.

I can be generous by using respectful language and actions towards my peers and teacher when I post ideas on any device, on any digital platform, at any time of day.

I can understand that my digital identity means how I act online matters. Are my actions kind, truthful, and helpful?

I can show mastery by practicing problem solving skills when I'm frustrated with a new tool or application. I can ask my teacher for help to learn to use technology at school.
